Cavotec sponsors PortTechEXPO cleantech event

We're always on the lookout for great ideas, so we're delighted to be sponsoring the upcoming PortTechEXPO in Los Angeles that brings together innovative clean technologies from around the world with the business community.

“Working closely with the ports of Los Angeles and Long Beach, Cavotec has developed innovative systems in the LA area for many years, so we're keen to help ensure tomorrow's clean technologies receive the support they need to flourish,” says Ottonel Popesco, Cavotec Group CEO.

PortTechEXPO is organised by non-profit business incubator PortTechLA. This year's event, the fourth of its kind, will feature around 100 clean technologies, and more than 300 civic and business leaders.

The technologies featured are in the areas of energy, environment, security and transport, primarily for the ports and maritime sector.

The event will be held at the Port of Los Angeles on September 11. In addition to Cavotec, other sponsors include the Port of Los Angeles, TransPower, Locke Lord, Esri, SA Recycling, The Wentworth Company and the Hong Kong Trade Development Council.

You can see how our innovative technologies are improving how ports operate in our E3 Berth film.

Cavotec is a leading cleantech company that develops connection and electrification solutions that enable the decarbonisation of ports and industrial applications.
