Foot on the accelerator

Cavotec CEO Mikael Norin has recorded a video message in which he speaks about our performance in 2021 and the success of our focus on cleantech solutions for ports and industrial applications, and how Cavotec is now at an inflection point, where previously niche markets are becoming mass markets. As well as providing headline figures for the year, Norin talks about our vision of leading electrification in our markets and how we are uniquely well-positioned to deliver financial and environmental benefits to our customers by connecting the future - today.
