Cavotec Launches New Website

Cavotec is excited to announce the launch of its new website – a modern platform designed to showcase the company's long automation and electrification expertise, while making it easier for customers, partners, and other stakeholders to access the information and support they need.

The new site features an improved structure and enriched content that provide a clearer, more intuitive experience for all visitors. It offers a comprehensive overview of how Cavotec enables safer, cleaner, and more efficient operations across ports and maritime, mining and tunnelling, construction, and general industry.

With this launch, Cavotec strengthens its ability to communicate the full value of its engineering capabilities and market offering. The new website enables users to:

- Explore Cavotec's complete portfolio of systems, products, and after-sale services
- Understand how Cavotec solutions support and add value to different industries worldwide
- See how Cavotec technologies enhance safety, reduce emissions, and increase operational efficiency
- Learn more about Cavotec's strategy, culture, and global team
- Stay up to date with the latest news, insights, and product developments

The redesigned platform also reflects Cavotec's 50-year heritage of innovation and highlights the company's global footprint and strong commitment to driving sustainability and operational excellence worldwide.

Discover the new website at www.cavotec.com.
